PREFACE TO THE FOURTH EDITION

THE third edition of the World List of Scientific Periodicals was published in 1952 and reprinted in 1958. In 1957 work started on the preparation of the fourth edition and has continued steadily to the end of 1963. This task has been very great, for the number of periodicals to be included has now reached the figure of over sixty thousand.

During these years the World List Association suffered a severe blow in losing its Chairman, the late Dr. E. J. Holmyard, who retired owing to ill health shortly before his death. His great qualities, wide experience and sympathetic understanding were of inestimable value to the Association.

The printing and publishing of this edition has been undertaken for the Association by Butterworths in continuation of the agreement under which the third edition was published, whereby they have been responsible for the cost of production. The cost of preparation of the work, which is borne by the Association, has inevitably increased to a sum much greater than that for previous editions. The Association records with gratitude the receipt of two grants towards this cost amounting to £7,200 from the Royal Society of London out of their Parliamentary grant-in-aid of scientific publications. The compilation of this edition would have been impossible without this financial help.

It is with regret that the Association must announce that this fourth edition of the World List of Scientific Periodicals published in the years 1900-1960 is the last that can appear in this format. Apart from increasing costs the great labour of compilation is now beyond the resources of an Association without permanent staff and which has to rely upon the part-time services of public-spirited experts who have carried out their task with admirable devotion. As the Association saw no prospect of the publication of a fifth edition, which should ideally appear in about ten years' time, it sought alternative means of keeping the list up to date. The Association has been fortunate in concluding an agreement with The National Central Library, by which the list will be in effect continued through the publication of annual supplements of the British Union Catalogue of Periodicals. A list of new publications and corrections will appear as a supplement to BUCOP and it is possible, if demand justifies it, that the annual lists will be gathered into quinquennial issues. This arrangement has further the bibliographical value of avoiding the duplication of publications that would otherwise occur. The Council of Management of the World List of Scientific Periodicals is confident that this arrangement will meet the needs of the users of the List.

The first three editions of the World List were edited by the late Mr. W. A. Smith, whose preface to the third edition concludes on a sadly prophetic note; he died when work was about to start on the fourth edition. The editorial task then devolved on Mr. P. Brown and Mr. G. B. Stratton to whom all users of the World List are greatly indebted for their unremitting and devoted labours. Mr. Stratton has been associated with the preparation of all the editions of the World List, from the first covering the period 1900-1921.

Finally I wish to record the thanks of the Association to its secretary, Miss Grace Gay, who has for so long dealt so efficiently with the voluminous correspondence involved.

16 October, 1963

World List of Scientific Periodicals

EDITORS' NOTE

THIS, the fourth edition of the World List of Scientific Periodicals, is the first to be prepared without the editorship of Mr. W. A. Smith. Although he had previously considered that the third edition would be his last he was in fact preparing himself at the close of 1956 to face once more the arduous task of editing another World List when he was suddenly taken ill and died in January 1957. The present editors can do no more than express the hope that this edition, which is to be the last World List to appear in this form, has come near to equalling its predecessors.

This present edition is of exactly the same pattern as the previous editions, but now covering the period 1900 to 1960. It includes periodicals concerned with the natural sciences and technology of which issues were published during this period of sixty-one years. Periodicals first published at any time before 1900 are listed so long as they continued publication into the twentieth century; changes of title taking place before 1900 are not shown. At the other end of the period a change of title taking place after 1960 is noted, but no separate entries have been made for the post-1960 titles.

Our largest source of information for periodicals for the years 1900 to 1950 has naturally been the third edition of the World List. Many of these entries have been revised in the light of further information and some titles of periodicals published during that period but not included in earlier editions of the World List have been added. On the other hand, some ten thousand titles which appeared in the third edition have been excluded from the present edition as being of social or commercial interest rather than scientific. The period 1951 to 1960 was one of greatly increased publication of scientific and technological periodicals, with the result that entries for periodicals published during these ten years account for about a quarter of this present edition of the World List.

The World List is not a catalogue of periodicals but a finding list of titles arranged in alphabetical order of the important words of the titles. We have not followed exactly the arrangement of titles in the previous editions but have regarded all nouns and adjectives as being important words in this respect. For this reason we would advise users of previous editions as well as new users of the World List to consult the revised 'Explanation of the Arrangement' on page xi.

We have attempted to include in this edition every means we could to assist users in finding entries. Words used in the arrangement of the titles are in bold type. The majority of entries can be found in the alphabetical arrangement without any difficulty, but in a large number of cases we have included cross references where entries may be sought under alternative forms. Titles in the Cyrillic and Greek alphabets are arranged according to their transliterated form, but the transliteration and original alphabet are both given in the entries; titles in other non-Roman alphabets are given only in transliteration. The transliteration of Cyrillic and Greek characters is in accordance with the method recommended by the Royal Society, modified and published as British Standard 2979:1958. It was with regret that we had to decide that time would not permit us to supplement this World List with a Societies index.

The abbreviations in this edition have been prepared in general accordance with the forthcoming British Standard for the Abbreviation of Titles of Periodicals but do not show very great differences from the abbreviations given in previous editions of the World List. Where new abbreviations have been introduced it has in general been with the aim of assisting users of the abbreviations to reconstruct the full title sufficiently to be able to find this title in an alphabetically arranged list such as the World List. We have given many abbreviations fuller forms (even leaving some words unabbreviated) at the beginning of titles so that there should not be any uncertainty about the exact word in question. The work of revising the abbreviations has had to be secondary to our main task of recording the full titles and holdings and although we have attempted to ensure that there are no inconsistencies we fear that shortage of time may have led to our leaving some; we can only hope that they are few in number. Details of the abbreviations, together with a select list of abbreviations and their full forms are given in the 'Note on the Abbreviation of Titles' on page xvii.

Dates of publication (or coverage) of a title are shown in brackets after the abbreviation. Where we have been unable to establish the date of the first issue the final date, if known, has been shown by an asterisk following the holding of the first library listed as having the last issue, e.g. L.B.M. 39-48*.

We are greatly indebted to the librarians who have contributed information about the periodical holdings of their libraries for this edition. We are, however, sorry that a few libraries who have provided information for the previous editions have not done so for this edition, with the result that their holdings of periodicals are not shown as fully as they might have been. Without the valuable assistance provided by the contributing libraries, not only would we have been unable to record holdings but we would probably have remained unaware of the existence of many new titles. We have attempted, as far as time would allow, to record in accordance with the information received the holdings of every contributing library for every title unless a holding was for only a very short period of a periodical's life and the title was well represented in a good coverage of other libraries. We welcome the inclusion in this edition of new libraries. We are particularly glad to have received some information of the periodicals held at the National Lending Library for Science and Technology. This important library was not officially opened until 1962, so that it has not been possible to record fully its extensive holdings; nevertheless, through the courtesy of the Director, Dr. D. J. Urquhart, and Miss R. M. Bunn, reference is made to a considerable number of titles held in the library. Contained in the stock of the National Lending Library for Science and Technology are many periodicals transferred from the Science Museum and we are much indebted to Miss H. J. Parker and Miss G. M. Turner for the details of the titles transferred. It may be that some titles credited as being held by L.Sc. are now located in Y. Details of the libraries and the symbols used to designate them are given below in the 'Note on Libraries and Holdings' on page xiii.

The World List attempts to list not only those periodicals which are held by the contributing British libraries, but also those of which, so far as is known, there is no copy in this country. We are well aware that for this fourth edition the short time left to us after we had recorded the information provided by the libraries prevented us from searching out all the titles not so reported and that for the period 1951 to 1960 the present edition falls short of the standard set by previous editions in this respect. There are however, a number of published lists of periodicals for this period and we would refer users to these where they are unable to find information about a title in this World List.

We cannot pretend that we, as new editors, have found the task of compiling this fourth edition of the World List of Scientific Periodicals an easy one, and, therefore, we are all the more indebted to the people who have helped us in its preparation. In this respect it gives us much pleasure to record our special thanks to Mr. G. W. F. Claxton of the British Museum (Natural History) and Messrs. R. A. Fish, L. G. Ellis and R. Langstaff of the Zoological Society of London for the generous assistance given throughout the preparation of this edition. To Butterworths, our publishers, we are much indebted for their helpful and understanding consideration of the problems involved in producing the World List, and for giving us the benefit of their advice on many points.

EDITORS' NOTE

For both of us it has been a task which has had to be fitted into what would otherwise have been our leisure hours. It is with some relief that we view the completion of our task, as well as a certain amount of satisfaction with many of the things we have been able to do, though this must inevitably be tinged with some dissatisfaction that there was not time to do all that we might have wished.

EXPLANATION OF THE ARRANGEMENT

An attempt has been made, subject to a few conventions described below, to record the exact titles of periodicals and to arrange these titles in strict alphabetical order of the important words, i.e. all nouns and adjectives (in only very few particular instances have verbs, adverbs and prepositions had to be considered also).

1. The words considered in the arrangement of titles are in bold type. The place of publication, where this has been used to determine the arrangement of entries with the same titles, has not, however, been printed in bold type.

2. The following words in titles are disregarded for the purposes of arrangement:

- (a) All articles, except when as suffixes forming part of a noun;
- (b) All prepositions, verbs, adverbs, pronouns and conjunctions, except when forming the first word of a title or to distinguish otherwise identical titles.

All nouns and adjectives disregarded in the arrangement of the titles in previous editions of the World List now count, e.g.

Fortschritte auf dem Gebiet der Chemie,
Bericht über die Tätigkeit der Gesellschaft,
Journal of the Royal Statistical Society,
Mitteilungen der K. Akademie der Wissenschaften,
Journal of the State Department of Agriculture,
Annales de l'Académie r. de physique.

(Note. The foreign unilar adjectives Königlich, Kaiserlich, Kaiserlich-Königlich, royale are shortened to K., KK., and r. and included as such in the arrangement.)

3. In many headings various forms, singulars and plurals, older and more recent forms, have been brought together and recorded in one form, e.g.

Annals for Annals and Annses,
Arbog for Arbog and Aarbog,
Archivos for Archivos and Arquivos,
Bulletin for Bulletin and Bulletins,
Compte rendu for Compte rendu and Comptes rendus,
Zentralblatt for Zentralblatt and Centralblatt.

General cross references have been included for the alternative forms. At the beginning of a title Report is used for both 'Report' and 'Annual Report', but the forms Biennial Report, Annual Meteorological Report, etc. are not changed.

4. Titles with initial letters are arranged in a separate sequence at the beginning of the letter, e.g.

A.A. Journal. Architectural Association,
A.A.A.S. Bulletin. American Association for the Advancement of Science,
A.C.E.C. Ateliers de construction électriques de Charleroi,
AEC Gazette. Associated Equipment Co.

5. Hyphenated forms are to be read as if forming a single complete word.

6. German ä, ö, ü are arranged as if they were ae, oe, ue but in any other language these letters are arranged as a, o, u. No other diacritical marks affect the arrangement.

7. In those periodicals in which the arrangement of words in the title cannot be established, a cross reference is frequently provided from an alternative form, but users should be prepared for an inversion of words such as shown in the following examples:

- (a) Transposition of a geographical name.
Journal of the Department of Agriculture of New Jersey.
Journal of the New Jersey Department of Agriculture.
